

Five amazing Facts about the Writing Lives of Great English Authors

OSCAR WILDE

The novel "The Picture of Dorian Gray" was written in just 3 weeks! His only novel was turned into a movie more than 25 times!

In Oxford, Oscar Wilde said to his friends:
- I will be a poet, a writer, a playwright. One day I will become famous worldwide or, at least, defiled.

When Oscar Wilde was asked to name the 100 greatest books, he replied that it was impossible. Because he wrote only five.

His mother called him Mister and locked him in a closet for everything. She did not know that Oscar loved it. He was not afraid of darkness and loved to spend time in silence.

Oscar Wilde's mother wanted a daughter, so little Oscar had to wear dresses and he was called "she" until Lady Wilde gave birth to her daughter, Izola.
